Hoofland's German Bitters,
AND
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC.
The Great Remedies for all Diseases of the LIVER, STOMACH, OR DIGESTIVE ORGANS.

Hoofland's German Bitters

Is composed of the pure juices (or, as they are medicinally termed, Extracts) of Roots, Herbs, and Barks, making a preparation, highly concentrated, and entirely free from alcoholic admixture of any kind.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC

Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters with the purest quality of Santa Cruz Rum, Orange, &c., making one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public.
Those preferring a Medicine free from Alcoholic admixture, will use

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

Those who have no objection to the combination of the Bitters, as stated, will use

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC.

They are both equally good, and contain the same medicinal virtues, the choice between the two being a mere matter of taste, the Tonic being the most palatable.
The stomach, from a variety of causes, such as Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, etc., is very apt to have its functions deranged. The Liver, sympathising as closely as it does with the Stomach, then becomes affected, the result of which is that the patient suffers from several or more of the following diseases

Constipation, Flatulence, Inward Piles, Fullness of Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heart-burn, Disgust for Food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried or Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a Lying Posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, etc., Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginings of Evil, and Great Depression of Spirits.

The sufferer from these diseases should exercise the greatest caution in the selection of a remedy for his case, purchasing only that which he is assured from his investigations and inquiries possesses true merit, is skilfully compounded, is free from injurious ingredients, and has established for itself a reputation for the cure of these diseases. In this connection we would submit those well-known remedies—

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS,
AND
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC.
PREPARED BY Dr. C. M. JACKSON,
PHILADELPHIA, PA

Twenty-two years since they were first introduced into this country from Germany, during which time they have undoubtedly performed more cures, and benefited suffering humanity to a greater extent, than any other remedies known to the public.
These remedies will effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, Chronic Diarrhoea, Disease of the Kidneys, and all Diseases arising from a Disordered Liver, Stomach, or Intestines.

DEBILITY,
Resulting from any Cause whatever;
PROSTRATION OF THE SYSTEM,
induced by Severe Labor, Hardships, Exposure, Fevers, etc.

There is no medicine extant equal to these remedies in such cases. A tone and vigor is imparted to the whole system, the appetite is strengthened, food is enjoyed, the stomach digests promptly, the blood is purified, the complexion becomes sound and healthy, the yellow tinge is eradicated from the eyes, a bloom is given to the cheeks, and the weak and nervous invalid becomes a strong and healthy being.

PERSONS ADVANCED IN LIFE,

And feeling the hand of time weighing heavily upon them, with all its attendant ills, will find in the use of this BITTERS, or the TONIC, an elixir that will instil new life into their veins, restore in a measure the energy and ardor of more youthful days, build up their shrunken forms, and give health and happiness to their remaining years.

NOTICE.

It is a well-established fact that fully one-half of the female portion of our population are seldom in the enjoyment of good health; or, to use their own expression, "never feel well." They are languid, devoid of all energy, extremely nervous, and have no appetite.
To this class of persons the BITTERS, or the TONIC, is especially recommended.

WEAK AND DELICATE CHILDREN

Are made strong by the use of either of these remedies. They will cure every case of MARASMUS, without fail.
Thousands of certificates have accumulated in the hands of the proprietor, but space will allow of the publication of but a few. Those, it will be observed, are men of note and of such standing that they must be believed.

TESTIMONIALS.

HON. GEO. W. WOODWARD,
Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Penna., writes:
Philadelphia, March 16, 1867.
"I find 'Hoofland's German Bitters' is a good tonic, useful in diseases of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in cases of debility, and want of nervous action in the system.
Yours, truly,
GEO. W. WOODWARD."

HON. JAMES THOMPSON,
Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.
Philadelphia, April 28, 1866.
"I consider 'Hoofland's German Bitters' a valuable medicine in case of attacks of Indigestion or Dyspepsia. I can certify this from my experience of it.
Yours, with respect,
JAMES THOMPSON."

FROM REV. JOSEPH H. KENNARD, D. D.,
Pastor of the Tenth Baptist Church, Philadelphia.
Dr. Jackson—Dear Sir:—I have been frequently requested to connect my name with recommendations of different kinds of medicines, but regarding the practice as out of my appropriate sphere, I have in all cases declined; but with a clear proof in various instances and particularly in my own family, of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart for once from my usual course, to express my full conviction that, for general debility of the system, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail; but usually, I doubt not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes.
Yours, very respectfully,
J. H. KENNARD,
Eighth, below Coates st.

FROM REV. E. D. FENDALL,
Assistant Editor Christian Chronicle, Philadelphia.
I have derived decided benefit from the use of Hoofland's German Bitters, and feel it my privilege to recommend them as a most valuable tonic, to all who are suffering from general debility or from diseases arising from derangement of the liver.
Yours, truly,
E. D. FENDALL.

WHAT THE BIRDS TEACH US.

Our Summer months are quickly gone,
Our time of birds and flowers,
And our songsters now are warbling,
In genial, southern bowers.

But when the melting snows of Spring,
Run down our mountain's side,
We'll hear their sweetest notes again,
Commingling in the tide.

They will not tarry long, afar,
They love our deep, cool shades,
Our pleasant, sunny valleys,
And lakes, begirt with glades.

They love our leaping cascades,
Our rivers' gentle flow,
They love our healthy zephyrs
Breathed whereso'er they go.

They love our sparkling fountains,
Gushing so pure and bright,
In which they see their beauteous forms,
Mirror'd by morning light.

Devotion—child-like, we may learn,
From those happy, artless birds;
For they point us in their songs,
To the loving Saviour's words:

Saying—"Come ye heavy laden,"
Come to me;—yoke meekly died;
Take my easy who upon you,
Bear it patient by my side.

I will lead you to the Father,
Every day, will teach you more;
I will show you of the mystery
Which He planned in days of yore!

Listen then to voices lowly,
Fondly whispering to your heart,
"God is ever near to guide you,
Lonely traveler—if thou art:

Without thy scrip, without money,
Neither sandals for thy feet,
Do'st thou seek?—Thou hast the promise
That the Saviour you shall meet;

Or in lordly halls of grandeur,
Decked with diamonds, rich and rare
He will bend His ear to listen,
To the heart-felt, earnest prayer."

EVENING.

'Tis evening—the sun has sunk in glory behind the western hills, and the gentle dews of heaven descend and kiss the earth. Pale Luna shines coldly, and the glistening stars speak to the mind of immensity unbounded. Evening—and the tired laborer rests before his cottage fire, and dreams of happiness. Evening—and the child, weary of its play, kneels before the nightly couch, and the zephyrs waft the pure prayer to heaven. Evening—and the yearning spirit of the child of genius is borne away from earth scenes, and dwells in realms of thought. Evening—and the Christian lifts his heart on high, and thinks of that land where no night nor eve can come. Evening—kneel thou, and ask the care of Him, without whose protection, thou would'st never see another eve.

RETURNING A SALUTE.—A most amusing story is told of Judge B., now occupying a high post in the Pennsylvania State Government. Traveling, some years sine, by rail to Harrisburg, on a blazing hot day, with some friends, the iron horse had stopped to water, when suddenly he drew his white handkerchief from his pocket, and began waving it vigorously in the air, at the same time bobbing his head out of the window in a very energetic manner.

"What are you about, Judge?" asked Mr. Q., without rising from his seat.

"Why, don't you see yonder? There's a lady waving a white handkerchief, and I'm returning the salute."

"Who is she, judge?" asked Mr. Q., as he lounged in one corner.

"Well, the fact is, I don't exactly know; I'm quite near sighted, and I can't recognize her; but she is dressed in gray silk, and stands yonder, under a big maple tree, near my friend John A.'s house."

Mr. Q., hobbled over to the judge's side and gazed in the direction indicated, but saw only that the judge had been exchanging salutes for ten minutes with an iron gray mare, whose long white tail, as it flapped away the flies, had been taken by him for a white handkerchief, waved by a lady in a gray silk dress.

"HAD 'EM."—The Dayton (Ohio) Journal has the following good story;

Most of our readers have seen the small pair of alligators in one of our up-town drug stores. Yesterday they formed the basis for quite a joke. The present cool weather is more than they can endure, and by their stupid actions they enter their most solemn protest against a change in the atmosphere. Their owners thought to thaw them out, and for that purpose took them to the kitchen fire of an adjoining restaurant and left them in charge of the sable cook, who answers to the name of "Lucy." Shortly afterwards a couple called for a warm meal. "Your order sir?" asked the attentive clerk. "What can you give us?" "Anything, from an alligator to an oyster," was the response of the attentive and obliging clerk, who is ever ready for a joke.—"Let us have an alligator!" "Yes, sir," and the order was transmitted to Lucy. No sooner said than done. In it came, squirming lively, much to the terror of the lady and amazement of the gent, who thought oysters were preferable.

SLEDGING A PARSON.—I was a passenger on a steamer from Panama to San Francisco when the rush of travel on that line was immense. We were badly crowded, and there was no room for chairs or tables, yet we were bound to have our game of "old sledge." A Baptist minister, with lust for gold, had deserted his flock, and occupied a sleeping place on the cabin-floor. He was a large, corpulent man, and finding him a sound sleeper, four of us squatted around him, and commenced to play on his broad stomach, scoring the points of the game on his black vest. We played for several hours, undisturbed except by an occasional snore of uncommon force. I had won considerably, and one of my opponents, Jim Doyle by name, becoming excited at my turning up "Jack," brought down his first upon the lower part of the parson's stomach with great power. The pious old gentleman was awakened thereby, and looked up with some surprise; but seeing the state of the case, quietly exclaimed. "Go on with your game, boys; but if you are going to pound me in that manner, you had better let me turn over."

A CLERGYMAN once took for his text these words: "The World, the Flesh and the Devil," and commenced his sermon in this manner: "I shall pass over the Flesh, touch lightly upon the World, and hasten as fast as I can to the Devil." Wonder what the sequel was.

A PREACHER in Berks county, discoursing about Daniel in the lion's den, said; "An thar he sot, all night long, lookin' at the show for nothin', an' it didn't cost him a cent."

THE DAUGHTER-IN-LAW.

BY SHIRLEY BROWN.

"I never will forgive him," said old Mr. Remington, solemnly depositing his great gold spectacles in their green leather case.

"Nor I, neither," sobbed Mrs. Remington, heedless of the unwonted disorder of her cap strings. "To marry that bold, dashing girl without so much as waiting for our permission."

"But you know, my dear," suggested the old gentleman, "we shouldn't have given it to him if he had waited half a century."

"Certainly we should not," said Mrs. Remington, emphatically. "To think of our only child treating us so cavalierly, Able—the only one we've got in the world."

"He has made his bed, and must lie on it," said the old man sternly. "I will never receive his gay city bride here, and so I shall write him immediately. We are scarcely fine enough for a Fifth avenue daughter-in-law."

As he spoke, the old man picked up a crumpled letter that he had thrown on the floor in the first paroxisms of his anger, and smoothed out its fold with mechanical touch.

"Why only think of it, Able," said Mrs. Remington, "Mahala Buckley served for six weeks in this—this girl's cousin's family, and she says Evelyn Sayre could smoke a little paper cigar just like a man, and used to go skating with her dress all tucked up to the top of her boots, and drove a barouche, with the groom sitting behind, and ——"

"Bless my soul," said the old gentleman, his breath nearly taken away by the catalogue of enormities. "Bless my soul, you don't say so. And our Charley is married to such an amazon as this."

So the old couple sat in the roomy porch of the capacious old farm house, with the Michigan roses tossing little pink billet doux into their laps, in scented showers, and the delicious orders of the fresh mown hay coming up from the meadow flats by the river, as miserable an old couple as you would want to see.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Charles Remington, a bride of three weeks standing, was making herself supremely happy at Niagara. She sat on a fallen log, among the delicious shades and seclusion of Goat Island, that bright June day, with the lights and shadows chasing each other across her lovely face, and turning her long chestnut curls to coils of gold. Dressed all in white, she was fastening a wreath of wild flowers into the ribbon of her coquettish little hat, and singing some old ballad softly to herself.

Evelyn Remington was very handsome—neither blonde nor brunette, she contrived to unite the charms of both in her rose-leaf complexion, bright hair and misty brown eyes, and the smile that dimpled her fresh, scarlet lips were real smiles, messengers straight from the heart.

Presently she was joined by her husband—a tall, handsome young fellow, in a white linen suit, and graceful Panama hat.

"Two letters, Evelyn," he said lightly, "and bad news in both."

"Bad news! Oh, Charles!" and the roses faded suddenly away from the bride's cheeks.

He tossed into her lap a stiffly written letter, on one page of blue paper, signed "Able and Mary Remington," a keen expression of their disapproval of the marriage he had contracted, and an assertion of their firm determination never to receive his wife as a daughter.

Evelyn looked into her husband's face with her bright eyes full of tears.

"Oh, Charles, I am so sorry."

He laughed and quoted to her the old scripture phrase: "A man shall leave his father and mother, and cleave unto his wife."

"And now don't you want to see the other letter, Evelyn?"

It was a summons from the mercantile firm with which Charles Remington was connected, an earnest entreaty that he would visit Central America, in their interest, immediately.

"Cool, isn't it? to request a bridegroom to walk off in that sort of way, for it is too rough a voyage to ask you to undertake—shall I go or stay?"

"Go, by all means. Should I ask you to linger by my side, when duty calls you away, a poor wife I should be."

He kissed her flushed cheek with admiring tenderness.

"And where shall I leave you, my bonnie bride?"

"Oh, I will make a brief visit home in the meantime. It cuts our wedding tour short, but then you know we have a life time to finish our honeymoon in."

So the brief Niagara sojourn came to an end, and Mrs. Charles Remington, for the season, was a widowed bride.

"He will be back soon," she said to herself, "and, in the meanwhile, oh, I must do so much."

"Yes," said old Mrs. Remington, complacently, "I think that was a splendid idea of ours, Able, sending for Lot Chauncey's orphan to adopt. It'll teach Charles and his stuck up wife that we're in earnest about what we wrote, and Marian Chauncey won't have no city airs or graces. I'm dreadful anxious to see her—Lot was a likely-looking fellow, and my cousin twice removed, and folks did say his wife was a reg'lar built beauty. I guess likely she'll come by the stage to-night."

"I guess likely there she is now," said Able, who, sitting by the open window, caught the first glimpse of a slender figure coming up the path, and carrying a well-packed carpet bag, and Mrs. Remington ran forward to kiss and welcome the new comer.

Marian Chauncey was exceedingly pretty—Mrs. Remington soon discovered that—a bright, winsome little creature, with golden brown hair that would curl, in spite of the restraining net, loving hazel eyes, and tremulous red lips.

"Oh, Abel!" quoth the soft-hearted old lady, at the end of two days, "why didn't Charles wait until he had seen Marian Chauncey? Is not she sweet—don't it seem like a gleam of sunshine in the old house when she is tripping around?"

"She is very pretty," said Mrs. Remington. "And then," pursued the old lady, "she's handy. She knows just where every thing is kept, and how to do everything, and she does up my caps exquisitely, and you should have seen how skillfully she drove me to meeting yesterday. Oh, Able, if Providence had only seen fit to send us a daughter-in-law like dear little Marian Chauncey."

Mrs. Remington's speech was cut prematurely short, by the entrance of the subject of it, with her apron full of eggs and her hands full of wild flowers.

"Mrs. Remington," she began, and then checking herself with abruption: "Oh, I cannot call yet by that long, formal name—may I say mother?"

"Of course you may, my darling," said the enthusiastic old lady, "and I only wish you were my real daughter."

Marian had laid down her flowers, and deposited her store of pearly white eggs in a basket on the table, and then came up to Mrs Remington, kneeling down and nestling her bright head in the old lady's checked apron.

"Mother," she murmured softly, "you do not know how sweet the word sounds.—And you will always love me and cherish me, and let me be a real daughter to you?"

"I should be a hard-hearted old cormorant if I didn't pet," said the old lady with her spectacles dimmed with tears."

In short Marian Chauncey became the light of the old farm-house; the bright little guardian genius of the low celled rooms and wide airy halls. She read the paper to farmer Remington, she compounded cake, jelly and syllabubs, to the astonishment and delight of the old lady—she kept the two old China vases on the mantle brimming over with a red rain of roses; she knew by instinct just when to darken the room for the old man's afternoon nap on the wide chintz covered sofa, and she was better than ten doctors when Mrs. Remington had one of the bad nervous headaches.

"I really don't see how we ever contrived to live without Marian," said the old gentleman.

"But she shall never leave us," said Mrs. Remington, decidedly.

"Marian, little bright eyes, I've got news," called the old gentleman one morning, through the hall; "leave those honey suckles for some one else to tie up, and come in here. Charlie is coming home."

"To stay, sir?"

"No, not to stay—of course his fine city wife demands his permanent devotion."—Mr. Remington could not help speaking with a sneer. "But he will spend the day here on his way to New York. I should like you to see Charlie—and I should like Charlie to see you. Don't blush—if you're not better looking than his Fifth Avenue wife, she must be a paragon among women, that's all I've got to say."

"When will he be here, sir?"

"In about an hour, I should judge from his letter—Charlie always did write an awful scrawl—m's and n's just alike, and half the time forgets to cross his t's; but I suppose that's the fashion, now-a-days?"

Marian Chauncey crept away to her room to brush out the red-gold curls, and adjust the blue ribbon at her throat, and wondered shyly to herself what "Charlie" would say when he saw the new element that had contrived so to interweave itself into the old home of his boyhood.

"But I don't think he will be angry," said Marian, in a half-whisper, as she pinned a white rose into her breast, and prepared to descend, in obedience to Mrs. Remington's call of:

"Marian, Marian, come down and see my boy."

Charles Remington stood in the middle of the floor, with an arm round his radiant little mother, while the old gentleman from his big easy chair, delightedly watched over the tableaux, as Marian slowly advanced.

"Charles," said Mrs. Remington beaming all over, "this is our new daughter, who—"

But Charles had sprung forward and caught the slight, willing figure in his arms while the golden hair floated in a perfect cascade of curls over his shoulder.

"Evelyn! My wife!"

Mr. Remington stared at his wife. Mrs. Remington stared at her husband.

"He's mad," whispered the old man. "Charles," he added aloud, "you are Mistaken; this is Marian Chauncey, our adopted daughter."

"No, sir, it is not," faltered the young lady in question, "I am Evelyn, your son's wife. I have stolen into your hearts, for I longed to share your love. So when you sent for Marian, who is one of my dearest friends, I persuaded her to remain at home, and allow me to personate her just for a few weeks. Father, mother, you will not turn me out of your affections now?"

"And you knew nothing of this?" demanded old Mr. Remington of his son.

"Not a word; it's Evelyn's own idea."

And Evelyn, half laughing, half crying, stole into her mother-in-law's extended arms.

"It don't seem possible that she is the Fifth Avenue girl," said the old gentleman, "come here and give me a kiss, Ma—Evelyn, I mean."

"So she is our real daughter after all?" said proud Mrs. Remington.

Evelyn had conquered their prejudices with the enchanted wand of love.—Fireside Companion.

HORACE VERNET, the eminent French artist, was returning from Versailles to Paris, when there happened to be in the same carriage with him two English sister ladies, very prudish and prim, and of a certain age. Vernet's appearance was striking, and the ladies after scanning him attentively whenever they thought he was looking the other way, began to communicate to one another their observations upon him in rather a loud whisper, thinking, apparently, that as they spoke in their own language they were at liberty to make what comments they pleased. The veteran painter was intensely amused, but was too much a man of the world to manifest the slightest consciousness of what was going on. It was not long before the train had to pass through a tunnel. Vernet, seizing the opportunity, leaned forward, so as to be within hearing of his neighbors, and applied a smacking salute on the hand. On emerging from the temporary obscurity, his face had assumed a mischievous expression, which, as he intended, was soon interpreted by each lady to the prejudice of the other, each charging the other with having received from the mustachœd stranger the mysterious kiss in the dark. Arrived at the terminus, as all were alighting, Vernet offered his hand to help his fellow-travelers out of the carriage, and then with a graceful bow took leave of then, saying as he retired, to their dismay, in perfectly correct English: "Adieu, ladies; I suppose I shall never have the satisfaction of knowing to which of you I am indebted for the unexpected valuable favor I received in the tunnel."

AN old weather worn trapper was recently seen sauntering along the main street of one of our Western villages. Pausing in front of a little meeting house for a moment he went in and took a seat among the congregation. The preacher was discoursing on the text of "the sheep and the wolves," and having evidently been drawing a contrast between the two subjects, says he, "We who assemble here from week to week, and do our duty and perform our part, are the sheep; now, who are the wolves?" A pause, and our freind the trapper rose to his feet, "wa'al stranger, rather than see the play stopped, I will be the wolf." The preacher vanished.

A GENTLEMAN was chiding his son for staying out late at night—or rather early next morning—and said, "Why, when I was of your age, my father would not allow me to go out of the house after dark!"—"Then you had a deuce of a father," you had, "sneered the young profligate. Whereupon the father very rashly vociferated, "I had a confounded site better'n than you, you young rascal!"

BEHIND time—The back of a clock.

WINE DRINKING IN EUROPE.

Dr. S. G. Holland (Timothy Titcomb,) who is visiting Switzerland, does not agree with those who claim that the substitution of light wines for whisky will prove a panacea for intemperance. He writes from Lausanne to the Springfield Mass Republican:

For the last three weeks, the whole working population, men and women, have been in these vineyards gathering the crop. The teams are employed in transporting the immensely large casks of new wine from the presses to the cellars of their owners, to the valuts of the dealers who have purchased it, and to the railroad depot for transportation to the storehouses of speculators in other quarters. There is an endeavor on the part of these people to throw a romantic interest around their vintage. The casks go through the streets with gay bouquets of flowers in their bungholes, but from what I have seen of the effect of wine here, the show is all a sorry farce. There is no question that the people would be better, healthier, happier, and much more prosperous, if there were not a vineyard in the Canton. We have all been told in America, and I fully believed it, that, if a people could be supplied with a cheap wine, they would not get so drunk—that the natural desire for some sort of stimulant would be gratified in a way that would be not only harmless to morals, but conductive to health. I am thoroughly undeceived. The people drink their cheap, white wine here to drunkenness.

A boozier set than hang around the multitudinous cafes here it would be hard to find in any American city, even where they enjoy the license of the Maine law. The grand difference in the drunkenness of an American and Swiss city is found in the fact that the man who has wine in him is good natured, and the man who is equally charged with whisky is a demon. There is no murdering, no fighting, no wrangling.—The excitement is worked off in singing, shouting and all sorts of insane jabber.—Then the steady old white wine topers come into blossom. If you can imagine a cauliflower of the color of the ordinary red cabbage, you can achieve a very adequate conception of faces that are not uncommon in all this wine growing region. So this question is settled in my mind. Cheap wine is not the cure of intemperance. The people here are just as intemperate as they are in America, and, what is more, there is no public sentiment that checks intemperance in the least. The wine is fed freely to children, and by all classes is regarded as a perfectly legitimate drink. Failing to find the solution of the temperance question in the Maine law, failing to perceive it in the various modes and movements of the reform, I, with many others, have looked with hope to find it in a cheap and comparatively harmless wine; but, for one, I can look in this direction hopefully no longer.

SINGULAR PRESERVATION.—The London Herald tells this singular and touching story:

Not many years since, certain miners, working far underground, came upon the body of a poor fellow who had perished in the suffocating pit forty years before. Some chemical agent to which the body had been subjected—an agent prepared in the laboratory of nature—had effectually arrested the progress of decay. They brought it up to the surface, and for a while, till it crumbled away through exposure to the atmosphere, it lay there the image of a fine, sturdy young man. No convulsion had passed over the face in death—the features were tranquil; the hair was as black as jet.

No one recognized the face—a generation had grown up since the day on which the miner went down his shaft for the last time. But a tottering old woman, who had hurried from her cottage at hearing the news, came up, and she knew again the face which through all these years she had never quite forgotten. The poor miner was to have been her husband on the day after that on which he died. They were rough people, of course, who were looking on; a liberal education and refined feelings are not deemed essential to the man whose work is to get coals or even tin; but there were no dry eyes there when the gray-headed old pilgrim cast herself upon the youthful corpse, and poured into its deaf ear many words of endearment unused for forty years. It was a touching contrast; the one so old, the other so young. They had both been young those long years ago; but time had gone on with the living and stood still with the dead.

FISHING FOR MICE.—There are several ways of catching rats and mice, but in these days, when there is a rage for almost everything new, perhaps the following anecdote, related by a country correspondent, may furnish the hint of an original mode of capturing these animals:

"Several years since my cousin, Miss ——, used to keep a district school.—Among those who attended it was a little boy of, perhaps, four years of age, but too young to speak plain. One day, while the others were at their studies, he got possession of a pin and string. He bent the pin into the form of a fish hook, tied the string to it, and put on it a small piece of cheese. He had seen a mouse come up through a hole in a corner of the hearth, and sat himself to bob for it as if it were a fish. He was observed and asked by my cousin what he was doing. 'Fishing for a mouse,' was the reply. As this pastime was not allowed in school hours, the teacher, by way of punishment, ordered him to continue bobbing for the mouse. So the little fellow sat grave as a judge, bobbing away, until soon the mouse took a strong hold of the cheese, and the boy giving a sudden pull, sprang into the middle of the room, and swinging the mouse round his head, astonished the whole school with the exclamation, 'I thwar, I've got him.'"—N. Y. Post.

THE Quakers at the the South, who persistently held to their peace principles, suffered seriously during the rebellion. Davis would not exempt them from fighting, and they were often subjected to peculiar trials in maintaining their faith. One Friend who refused to fight was forced to stand an hour and a half on a battle-field under fire. He escaped unharmed, but the guard was shot. Another was compelled to stand up with a musket tied to his side, in the trenches of of Petersburg, exposed to a terrible fire, and he also escaped unhurt.

A STORY is told many years of Deacon ——whose wife said one day at the table that she would be willing to die for sinners.

"What's that you say, wife?" asked her husband, looking up from his breakfast in surprise.

Upon her repeating the statement, the deacon only replied, "If you are willing and God is willing, I have no objections."

A FEW evenings since a compositor from this office returning to his home observed a well dressed man vomiting over his clothes, and with due appreciation of the value of a nice suit, remarked to the drunken man to hold his head further over and save his clothes. Raising his head the intoxicated individual, with offended dignity, hiccupped: "See here, who's superintending this puke, you or me?"

REV. DR. SCOTT of New York recently said in his pulpit that he would advise every young man at the outset of his career:—1. To be a good Christian; 2. To insure his life; 3. To get a good wife. Then he will be happy. The advice is sound, judicious and practical, and we forward it "approved."

WHY are young ladies at the breaking up of a party like arrows? Because they can't go off without a bow, and are all in a quiver till they get one.

THE PRESIDENT AND REPUDIATION.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON, in his last Message, an abstract of which we gave last week, shocks the moral sense of the country, by the insolent arrogance and egotism with which he defies the popular will as expressed in the recent elections—the falsification of historic facts—and the unblushing demagogueism which runs throughout the paper, and gives it the character of a stump speech addressed to a mob of pot-house politicians, instead of a Message to the Legislative department of a great Republic. But the crowning infamy of the document is the bold, atrocious proposition to REPUDIATE the entire National Debt. That there may be no mistake on this point we reprint verbatim what his Accidency has to say on this point. Here it is:

> "Our national credit should be sacredly observed; but in making provision for our creditors we should not forget what is due to the masses of the people. It may be assumed that the holders of our securities have already received upon their bonds a larger amount than their original investment, measured by a gold standard. Upon this statement of facts it would seem but just and equitable that the six per cent. interest now paid by the Government should be applied to the reduction of the principal, in semi-annual installments, which in sixteen years and eight months would liquidate the entire national debt. Six per cent. in gold would, at present rates, be equal to nine per cent. in currency, and equal to the payment of the debt one and a half times in a fraction less than seventeen years. This, in connection with the other advantages derived from their investment, would afford to the public creditors a fair and liberal compensation for the use of their capital, and with this they should be satisfied. The lessons of the past admonish the lender that it is not well to be over-anxious in exacting from the borrower rigid compliance with the letter of the bond."

There can be no difficulty in understanding this proposition. The President proposes to stop paying the interest on the Bonds, and apply this interest to the extinguishment of the principal—or what is the same thing, to pay the interest for sixteen years and a half, and then repudiate the entire principal. Either policy invites cool, unblushing REPUDIATION of the nation's obligations, and national dishonor.

Now this entire national debt was incurred by the Government, in the prosecution of the War to crush the gigantic Rebellion inaugurated by the Slave Power. Loyal men and women—friends of Republicanism and Free Government—came forward in the dark hours of the Republic and tendered the means wherewith to prosecute the War. The Government accepted the offer, and in turn gave its Bonds for the amount thus loaned.—These Bonds to-day are largely held, not by capitalists—for they can make more out of their money than 6 or 7 per cent. in legitimate business operation—but by Trustees, Widows and Orphans, Savings Banks, Trust Associations, and innumerable charitable Institutions which have their all invested in them, and would be bankrupted by their repudiation. We can readily understand why Rebels and Rebel-sympathizers should hate this debt, regarding it as a symbol of the defeat of their treasonable purposes, and be glad to have it expunged at once.—Every dollar of the National Debt tells the story of the crushing of the Rebellion and the triumphs of Republicanism—tells of Rebel hate and malignity—the starvation of Union men in the prison hells of Bell Isle and Andersonville—the murder of thousands for no other crime than preferring the flag of their country—tells of the heroism, toils and sacrifices of the loyal men of the Nation.

We repeat that we do not wonder that blatant and unrepentant Rebels, with hands still stained with the blood of murdered Unionists, regarding this debt as the symbol of Republican triumph, should be glad to have every dollar repudiated. But why ANDREW JOHNSON, who once breathed vengeance and slaughter against all Rebeldom, and announced before the world that Treason was a crime of such deep dye, that it should be made forever infamous, should desire to place himself high on the roll of infamy by recommending Repudiation, is to us a marvel. Verily, our "Moses" has been learning rapidly, since his betrayal of the Republican party and affiliation with Rebel advisers. It is another illustration of the "dog returning to his vomit," and how soon a man may reach the lowest depths of degradation, when he turns his back upon honor, right, and justice. Three years ago, ANDREW JOHNSON stood before the world a professed champion of Human Progress, with a path before him which he had but to tread to reach an immortality of fame. He chose to tread another, and to-day he stands before the world, a brazen, reckless, shameless villain.—"Repudiation will gain nothing by JOHNSON's endorsement—it will rather receive a darker smirch from his well-earned infamy."

THE LEGAL TENDER ACT.

An important case is now before the U. S. Supreme Court involving the constitutionality of the Act of Congress making green-backs a legal tender. The case has been argued and is now held under advisement by the Court. Varying opinions are expressed as to the character of the decision. On the one hand it is affirmed that a majority of the Court will rule the Act constitutional; and on the other that the Judges, Judge CHASE alone dissenting, will hold it to be unconstitutional. It will be some weeks before the decision is rendered. In the mean time much anxiety and solicitude is felt by business men, who dread an unfavorable decision as calculated to unsettle business and bring about a general smash up. If the Court should rule the Act unconstitutional, the effect of course will be to make all debts contracted prior to its passage in 1861 payable in gold, and make gold the basis of all future contracts. But it does not necessarily follow that contracts made since 1861, with an understanding that they were to be paid in legal tender notes instead of gold, will not be held valid, and undisturbed.—Still the consequences of an unfavorable ruling would be sufficiently grave to excite uneasiness.

GOV. GEARY has issued a proclamation announcing that the State debt has been reduced $2,000,414 during the past year. So much for Republican administration. Year after year the State debt goes down, the result of prudence and economy.

CONGRESS.

Congress has agreed to take a recess over the holidays, from Monday next to the 5th of January. Consequently no business of importance will be transacted, propositions as they are introduced being referred to the appropriate Committees, who will report in January.

The railroad mania is again developing itself, and various projects will be introduced. On Monday bills were introduced in the Senate by Mr. SHERMAN and in the House by Mr. LAWRENCE, both of the same import, looking to the construction of four lines of railroad from Washington—one North, one South, one East, and one to the Chesapeake Bay—all to have accompanying telegraph lines—one to run from the Capital to a point east of Harrisburg, Pa.

The message of President JOHNSON has been sharply criticised in Senate and House. On Monday Mr. BROOMAL offered the following preamble and resolution:

> Whereas, The President of the United States, in his annual Message to the Fortieth Congress at its third session, says:
> [Here follows extract from the Message in reference to the liquidation of the six per cent. bonds by the payment of interest.]
> And whereas, Such a sentiment, if permitted to go to the world without immediate protest, might be understood to be the sentiment of the people of the United States and of their Representatives in Congress; therefore,
> Resolved, That all forms and degrees of repudiation of national indebtedness are odious to the American people, and that under no circumstances will their Representatives consent to offer the public creditor as full compensation a less amount of money than that which the Government contracted to pay.

After some little skirmishing some of the Democratic members trying to evade a direct vote, the question was put on the preamble and the first clause of the resolution, which were agreed to—yeas 154, nays 6, viz: Messrs. ADAMS, ARCHER, GROVER, JONES of Kentucky, MUNGEN and TRIMBLE of Tennessee. The other part of the resolution was then agreed to without a division. On Monday Secretary SEWARD sent in a communication in answer to a resolution of the House inquiring as to the progress of the settlement of the Alabama claims. The Secretary says the settlement is in progress. The retirement of Lord STANLEY and the reorganization of a new British Ministry arrested the proceedings, but they are being satisfatorily renewed under Mr. GLADSTONE's Ministry. He declines to give further information, as it would be incompatible with the public interests.

On Tuesday, Senator SUMNER, from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, reported resolutions of sympathy with the people of Spain in their effort to secure liberal institutions, and urging them to signalize the new era in their governmental policy, by abolishing Slavery throughout the Spanish dominions. A sharp debate occured in the Senate on the bill to enforce to 14th Constitutional amendment, in the course of which Mr. FESSENDEN warmly defended the Congressional plan of Reconstruction; said he was in favor of repressing violence with force, and of giving the civil Governments established by Congress power to protect themselves. Mr. WILSON stated that since the close of the rebellion there had been more murders from political causes in the Southern States than there were lives lost on the battle-field of Gettysburg. In the House Messrs. LAWRENCE, of Ohio, DAWES, BLAIR, DICKEY, HOPKINS, MARSHALL, and HUBBARD, of Connecticut, were appointed a Committee to investigate the alleged election frauds in New York.

The death of Mr. STEVENS was to be announced yesterday. Messrs. Dickey, Orth, and some eight or ten other members have been preparing eulogies.

BORDER DAMAGES.

The Franklin Repository of the 9th instant has a pertinent editoral on this subject we cordially endorse. As the time appointed for the meeting of the Legislature approaches, the subject of border damages, remarks the Repository, becomes one of interest and discussion. Every session since these damages were sustained has an effort been made to secure compensation to those of the border counties who suffered material loss from the armies during the rebellion. It has met with no further success than the appointment of a commission to ascertain and adjudicate the losses with a view to their payment by the General Government at some future day. Even this much was obtained only last winter, after being at least twice refused by former Legislatures.

The losses of the border are of three kinds, those inflicted by the rebels, those sustained by the citizens on account of property taken or destroyed by troops in the United States service, and those losses of property taken by or given to our State during the war. While we do not believe that anything will come of the commission of last winter so far as securing compensation from the General Government, it is at least an entering wedge, inasmuch as it is an admission that these losses should be paid.

We confess that we fail to see how on principles of equity and justice the State can refuse to make compensation to that portion of her citizens whose loss was sustained in the interest of all, indeed, whose loss was the price paid for the safety of the property of the rest of her citizens. While the rebels were devastating the border counties, burning, destroying and plundering everywhere, their invading steps were arrested and they were driven back beyond the limits of the State. But for the time thus consumed they could have penetrated beyond the Susquehanna, and instead of counting the losses by a few millions they would have been counted by hundreds of millions. The border counties did not stint in their men and means for the general defence, and if much the largest part of her able bodied men had not been in the service of the country they could have done much towards defending themselves against the invaders.

There is no question, that these claims should be paid, and that too by the State. She is an empire herself, with inexhaustable resources, and making splendid progress in wealth and power. Even the rebellion, while it sacrificed the best lives and impoverished many, only gave additional impetus to her development, besides bringing wealth to the doors of numbers of the citizens. Those whose homes and property the rebellion consumed as by fire were no less loyal nor less worthy her protection, and, failing in that, her aid and assistance, than the more fortunate, and it is as humiliating as unjust that their petitions for relief should be heard with indifference and neglect.

The Commission which has during the summer ascertained the losses resulting from the war to the border counties can report, as was never done before, with reasonable certainty both their extent and kind. Now is the time for the people of the border counties to urge upon those whom they have [illegible] an effort to secure compensation for their losses. It is their right and they can get it if they persist. If they themselves neglect to do so, we know of none who will take up the work for them.

ON Wednesday the President sent to the Senate a large batch of nominations, embracing Collectors, Assessors, Postmasters, &c., among them that of JAMES N. MARKS, as collector of customs at Philadelphia, in place of CAKE to be removed. The White-House attendants seem disposed to make the most of the few weeks remaining of the President's term. Now, or nothing.

THE Senate Committe has reported adversely to Collector SMYTHE's nomination for the Republican mission, which practically sequelches the collector's aspirations.

COLORED SUFFRAGE IN PENNSYLVANIA.

As an article in the Honesdale Republic gives so clear an account of the history and present bearing of this subject that we reproduce it in full:

In 1682 William Penn promulgated "The Frame of Government" of Pennsylvania, under authority of the charter granted him by Charles II. In this document the right of suffrage is given, without restriction, to the "freemen of said province."

In 1701 Penn granted what is known as the "Charter of Privileges." By this instrument the right of suffrage was broadly given to "the freemen of each respective county."

The first Constitution of Pennsylvania was adopted in 1776. The Convention that framed this instrument was presided over by Benjamin Franklin. It gave the right of suffrage to "every freeman of the full age of twenty-one years." The men of the revolution, while asserting their own rights and liberties against proscription, were careful to stand fast by the cardinal idea of the political equality of all men.

In 1790 a new Constitution was framed. Thomas Mifflin presided over the Convention that made it. This instrument gave the right to vote to "every freeman over the age of twenty-one years."

In 1838 the Constitution was revised. John Sergeant presided over the Convention. The basis of suffrage was changed, so as to include only "every white freeman of the age of twenty-one years."

For one hundred and fifty-six years black men, if black they were, voted in Pennsylvania on precisely the same condition as white men. None of the evils now predicted of black suffrage were experienced. Neither mental or social equality of the two races was thereby established. Amalgamation, either through matrimony or without, was not encouraged. Not a black man was made Governor or Legislator. Social order was not subverted. The Government was not made by white men for white men, but by white men for the benefit of all men.

A WIFE SHOT FOR A BURGLAR.

On Saturday night last a farmer named James Moore, residing on the Western road, about six miles below this city, accidently shot his wife, inflicting a severe wound. Mr. Moore is a well-to-do farmer, and at times has had considerable money at his house. The fact was general known and on several occasions attempts were made by burglars to enter the premises. The attempts were all frustrated, and Mr. Moore was generally on his guard, and prepared to receive unseasonable visitors.

On Saturday night, about eleven o'clock, while a heavy storm was raging, Mr. Moore heard somebody at the front door. He left his bed, armed with a revolver, and started for the main Hall. As he reached it, he heard the intruders leaving the premises, and at once started back to his bed room. In the meantime his wife had left the bed and was standing at the window looking out for the thieves. Her husband supposing that she was still in bed, and seeing a human form at the window, concluded at once that it was a burglar about to enter the window, and, without challenging, drew his revolver and fired. A scream from his wife soon brought him the knowledge that he had shot her.

The revolver was a large "navy," and carried a heavy ball. The ball struck the woman on the right shoulder and lodged in the body. The wound is a very dangerous one.

FROM EUROPE.—The condition of political affairs in Spain is very unsettled. Great distress prevails among the poor, and trade is at a stand-still. The Government has, very unwisely we think, commenced prosecutions against the journals that approved the Cadiz insurrection. A special despatch to a London paper states that the peaceful termination of the troubles at Cadiz was entirely due to the exertions of Mr. R. F. Farrell, the American consul. The British Parliament assembled on Tuesday, and the speech from the Queen was read by royal commission. The speech simply asks that time may be given for the supplying of vacancies in the House of Commons before the business of the session is commenced. Both Houses then adjourned, the Commons to the 29th instant, and the House of Lords to February 11.

Hostilities are expected between Turkey and Greece, growing out of the latter's interference with Cretan affairs. Turkey sent an ultimatum to Greece on the subject, which the latter rejected, although it was backed by the urgent counsels of the King of Denmark, father of King George of Greece, and of his brother-in-law the Prince of Wales. King George is the son-in-law of the Emperor of Russia, under whose advice it is supposed he is acting. If so, Russia means to interfere in case Turkey goes to War, and this may lead to serious European complications.

A MAN ROASTED TO DEATH.—A man named John Britt came to his death on Saturday night, at Wilmington, Delaware, under the most horrible circumstances, having being literally roasted alive. He was a workman at J. V. Rice & Co.'s Phœnix Iron Foundry, where he was employed seven or eight years. He has been a steady, industrious man, and not much addicted to drink, except that he would occasionally go on a spree on Saturday nights. On Saturday night a number of men were employed about the foundry later than usual, getting off some work that had to be finished that night. About 12 o'clock, Britt, as he had been drinking some, left a restaurant for the foundry, having the charge of the keys. That was the last seen of him until his children went to the foundry on Sunday morning to hunt him and found his burning body. They ran for the foreman, Mr. Harvey, who went down to the foundry immediately and found Britt's body lying in a trench against a red-hot casting, the body in a blaze, and one leg partly burned off, so that there was no sign whatever of the lower part of it except the sole of his boot. The body, burned out of all semblance to humanity, almost, was taken to the deceased's residence. Britt was a native of Ireland, and leaves a wife and a number of small children, who were dependent on him for support.

POSTMASTER-GENERAL Randall has sent to the House estimates of the money required for mail service by the Department for the year ending June, 1870. The total is $24,500,000. Of this the inland mail transportation, including the Overland and sea mail to California, is nearly $13,000,000.

A MISSISSIPPI editor having given notice that he would inform, free of charge, enterprising young men how to make a fortune without capital, replies to several anxious inquirers: "Every one of you pull off your coats, leave off your army sixes, quit whisky, go to work, make a crop of corn, cotton, peas and potatoes; house them up, then marry an 'enterprising' girl."

PHOTOGRAPHING by moonlight is attracting great attention in England. A photographer of Glasgow, it is stated, has, by using the light of the moon, succeeded in producing several landscapes and marine views, which are wonderfully faithful reproductions of the scenery represented. These pictures have been prepared for the stereoscope, and give an entirely different effect from that produced by sunlight views.

THERE is an "humble individual" at Washington whose "sands of political life have nearly run out," who is now open for any official position, from Alderman to President. His address is "Andrew Johnson, White House." Letters may be addressed in care of Mrs. Cobb.—Lebanon Courier.

RE-UNION.—The soldiers and officers of the Armies of the Ohio, Tennessee, Cumberland and Georgia, had a grand Army Re-Union at Chicago on Tuesday and Wednesday. Many of the most prominent Officers who figured in the Western Army were present, including Gens. Grant, Sherman, Thomas, Howard, Schofield, Burnside, Smith, Stoneman, Slocum, Hurlburt, McClernand, &c., with an innumerable number of minor officers.

ESTIMATES FOR THE NEXT FISCAL YEAR.—The estimates for the expenses of the Government for the next fiscal year were sent to the House Committee on Appropriations on Saturday last. The total amount is $303,000,000. included in this estimate is $129,000,000 for the interest on the public debt, $52,000,000 for the expenses of the army, $20,000,000 to carry the navy, $28,000,000 for pensions, and $45,000,000 for civil and miscellaneous expenses. The amounts asked for will be greatly cut down—probably to $250,000,000.

THE Trustees of Antietam National Cemetery have re-elected John Jay, of New York, President, Thomas A. Boullt, of Hagerstown, Secretary and Treasurer, and Dr. Biggs, of Sharpsburg, Superintendent. Prolonged debate was had upon the subject of the allotment of ground for the burial of Confederate dead, and the subject was postponed to the next meeting to allow of conference and arrangement by the Trustees from Maryland with the authorities of that State, with a view to the settlement of the question in a manner mutually satisfactory to all parties.

THE Vigilence Committee or Regulators from Seymour, Indiana, visited the New Albany Jail on Saturday night and hung the two Renos and Charles Anderson, the Adams' Express robbers. The matter was managed with great secrecy and despatch, as well as with terrible resolution. The lynchers had a special train at their command, entered the town and got possession of the jail without creating any alarm, and hung the three men within the jail and then departed as secretly and quietly as they came. It will be recollected that the Renos and Anderson were parts of a gang that made Seymour the head-quarters of their depredations. They escaped, after the express robbery, to Canada, and were given up by the Canadian authorities on the condition that they should have a fair trial and be allowed to return to Canada if acquitted.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—About five o'clock on Sunday afternoon, as Hiram and Harriet son and daughter of Isaac Hutchinson, of Harrisburg, were going to the cellar to procure a basket of coal, the former went down the steps first, and the latter followed, carrying a lamp, and when half way down the steps she slipped and broke the globe of the lamp, enveloping her brother in flames. Their cries brought their father to their relief, who, seeing the dangerous position of the boy, seized a piece of carpet and threw it around him, smothering the flames, but not until the boy was severely burned. The flames were soon communicated to the house, but were soon extinguished by Mr. Hutchinson, who was severely burned about his hands in his efforts to put them out. The children were aged twelve and eighteen years respectfully.

YORK.—The stables of Charles Creamer and George A. Heckert, in York, were destroyed by fire on Friday night last, both insured; Mr. Creamer lost two valuable horses.

BOOK NOTICES.

"DEMOREST'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE," and "DEMOREST'S YOUNG AMERICA,"—the former for adults, the latter for young people—are two of the most attractive monthlies on our exchange. The enterprising publishers offer handsome premiums for new subscribers. The new volume commences with the January number. We cordially commend both to the attention of our friends. See advertisement.

BEECHER'S SERMONS IN THE "CHURCH UNION."—Many papers having announced that these sermons would not be printed in the CHURCH UNION, we take pleasure in stating that the sermons of this preacher do appear in every issue of this paper, and they are to be printed hereafter at twelve o'clock on Monday, getting the sermon of Sunday out on the next day. We understand the publisher of the CHURCH UNION promises to print Mr. Beecher's sermons so long as they are acceptable to the church, and requests all other papers to publish them from his own pages freely.

If our friends want a wide-awake religious paper, unsectarian, and full of interesting matter, the largest and most catholic paper in the world, let them send to HENRY E. CHILD, 41 Park Row, for a copy of this paper, enclosing 10 cents.

GODEY FOR 1869.—Godey's Lady's Book for January, 1869, is a gem. We have two fine steel plates engravings, "A King's Daughter," and tableau plate representing winter scenes, both executed by first class artists. Besides, there is a fine colored Fashion Plate, tinted cut, "Will it Bear?" with sundry Wood Cuts, illustrating Fashions, Costumes, &c. The literary matter is in keeping with the illustrations, consisting of contributions by Marion Howland, Miss Churchill, Miss Dorr, Miss Frost, and other popular writers. Mr. Godey is the pioneer of light magazine literature in this country, and although imitations and rivals have sprung up all around, he bravely holds his own, and to-day evinces as much energy and determination as when his magazine was struggling for existence. It's a general favorite with ladies, and must so continue. Address Louis A. Godey, Philadelphia.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE for January is the most brilliant we have ever seen.—The superb Colored Berlin Pattern alone is worth twice the price of the Number.—Then there are two Steel Engravings, one of them, "Mud Pies," with the cunningest little children; a double sized Colored Steel Fashion Plate; and more than fifty Wood-cuts of Fashions, Embroideries and other Patterns. The stories are of the highest class. "Perfidious Planchette," is the well-timed title of one. Mrs. Ann S. Stephens's new novelet opens finely. The author of 'Margaret Howth,' has also an interesting tale. Now is the time to subscribe for 1869! Terms $2.00 a year. To clubs, four copies for $6.00, with a premium engraving, "The Star of Bethlehem," to the persons getting up the club, or eight copies for $12.00, with engraving and an extra copy for premium. Specimens sent gratis to persons getting up clubs. Address CHAS. J. PETERSON, 306 Chesnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE INDEPENDENT.—This live paper, published by H. C. Bowen, New York, and edited by Theodore Tilton and a corps of ten colaborateurs, has appeared enlarged to the dimensions of 72 columns, with a material addition to the length of each. Such a mammoth weekly sheet for $2.50 a year is certainly exceedingly cheap, regarded in the matter of quantity only. When quality is taken into consideration, the advantages of the bargain to the subscriber become still more apparent. It calls itself a religious paper, but is more properly politico-religious, pledged to no party in the State and no sect in the church; but it is radical and independent exceedingly, as its name imports. It don't particularly pride itself upon agreeing in sentiment with its readers or the public; and people of every shade of opinion, but all of eminent ability, air their vocabularies and their ideas in its columns.—There Greeley, Whittier, Rev. Drs. Cheever, Cuyler and Spear, Grace Greenwood, Mary Clemmer Ames and many others represent the broadest church and most expansive politics. It is a great paper, and claims to have the largest subscription list of any publication of a religious turn in the country, and is valued at half a million of dollars. Address The Independent, or H. C. Bowen, Publisher, New York.

COLD WEATHER.—During the last few days old Boreas has visited us in all his glory, waking up those persons who have neglected to provide themselves with comfortable Winter Clothing. Our friend, FRANCIS CUNNINGHAM, has just received a large assortment of all kinds of Boy's and Men's wear, adapted to the season, including Coats, Over Coats, Pants, Vests, Woolen Shirts and Drawers, Boots, Over Shoes, Musical Instruments, Trunks and Valises, Socks, Buffalo Robes, Sleigh Bells, Horse Blankets, Gloves, Hosiery, with a large variety of Notions—all of which he is offering at very low prices, having been purchased for cash. Call and examine his stock, on Baltimore street, Picking's old stand, and you will find just what you want, and what is better still at prices just to suit. 2t

☞"No customer must be allowed to leave the store unsupplied," that is one of the orders given at Oak Hall for the present crisis. Not that the salesmen are to be rudely importunate, or to try to overpersuade anyone, but that such pains shall be taken to suit and such accommodations made on prices that all will, of their own free accord, desire to buy. It is in many respects unfortunate to have to interrupt the regular course of their fall and winter business which was so brisk and heavy; yet the misfortune of the death of a partner is unavoidable, and one compensation which the house will receive for the present sacrifice of goods will be many new customers who will be first brought to Oak Hall by this opportunity of making a good trade. 1t

CALENDARS FOR 1869.—We are prepared to print Calendars for the year 1869, with Business Cards attached, and ornamental border, specially gotten up for the purpose. Merchants will find it an attractive and profitable way of advertising. The handsome Calendar will cause it to be carefully posted up in counting-houses, business places, hotels, and dwellings, and thus preserved, with the business card attached, while ordinary advertisements are torn up and destroyed. They can be furnished on short notice, printed on card board or paper, in plain or fancy colors, and at very reasonable rates. Send in your orders.

NASBY.

Mr. Nasby has a Dream Which Does Not Comfort his Righteous Soul, but which, on the Other Hand, Gives him Great Uneasiness.

CONFEDRIT X ROADS,
NOVEMBER 23, 1868.

Last evenin I happened to pick up the Northern noozpaper uv the Dimikratic persuasion wich comes to this offis to Deekin Pogram, into wich wuz a article onto "The Fucher uv Democrisy." The able and dignified writer took the posishen that the only hope uv the Democrisy was in lettin the dead past bury its dead—in sinkin all the ishoos uv the past ten years—in acknowledgin the situoashen, and acceptin the results uv the war; in sinkin out uv site the old leaders, and puttin such men ez Chase, Seward, John Quincy Adams, Jr., Evarts, Rosecrantz, etc., to the front, and thus hevin infoosed new life and new blood into the organizashen, it mite go on conkerin and to conker.

The article wuz a column and a-half in length, and its a weakness uv mine that I can't read more than a column without goin to sleep. Therefore at the end of the column the paper dropt from my hand, and I dropt off into a gentle slumber in my chair, and dreamed a dream.

In my dream before me lay the body uv a man uv gigantic frame which was a breathin his last. He hed bin a powerful youth in his day, and hedn't the appearance uv bein very old in years, tho his hair wuz gray, his cheeks sunken and his form frightfully emaciated. His age wuz evidently the effect uv dissipashen more than uv years—wikkidnis hed did his perfeck work on him, and it wuz plane that he wuz a goner.

Around him stood all sorts uv people.—There wuz Vallandigham, the Blairs, Huffman, the Woodses, Voorhees, Hampton, Morrissey, Mrs. Cobb, Mrs. Perry (between these two A. Johnson), and many more uv that strip, who appeared to be indeavorin to resussitate the nearly defunct individooal.

"Who is this rather bustid patriark?" asked I uv one who appeared to be a chief mourner.

"That's Democrisy," answered he; "he has fought his larst battle, no gong kin awake him to glory agin. He's a gone sucker."

At this pint the operators on the unfortunate sufferer gave up in despare.

"I kin do nothin'," sed Seymour, "that last exershun was his last. I shall hie me to my farm."

"I knowd it wuz uselis," sed Vallandigham, "I shel leave Ohio and go too Noo York, for any body kin git to Congress from that city."

"I kin do no more," sed Voorhees, "I shel quit politics and go to operatin in Erie stocks!"

"Erie stocks," remarkt Mrs. Perry, with horror in her classic countenance, "thank the Lord, I am not so low ez that."

At this pint a lot uv hungry looking cusses, not so prominent ez these others, demanded that the pashent be put into new hands for treatment, and to wunst they called out for Chase, Seward, Evarts, Rosecranse and John Quincy Adams, Jr., who hevin no other place to stay wuz a hangin on the outskirts uv the crowd. Promptly they examined the dyin cuss and proceeded to apply the remedies.

"This is one thing that's killin him," sed Chase, cuterinin a hidjus ulcer marked "Slavery."

"This must come off," sed Evarts, whippin out a knife and takin off a foul smellin tumor labelled "States Rites."

"And I'll never consent to be seen with him if this is allowed to remain," sed Rosecrance slashin out a cancer marked "Secession."

"And this must come off ef I have anything to do with him," sed John Quincy Adams, Joonyer, jerkin off a most fearful tumor marked "Repoodeashen."

And so they went on, one after another, one pullin off this thing, and another that; this one burnin out this sore, and another that, till they hed peeled it to the bones.—When they hed got the diseased parts off ther wuz nothin left but the skeleton. It wuz a very genteel skeleton, ez clean uv flesh ez though it hed bin dissected by an ethoosiastic class uv medikle students.

They then commenced buildin uv it up. Chase put on Ekal Rites muscle; Evarts stuffed Nashnel credit in the hole Repoodiashen hed made; Rosecrans stiffened its back with loyalty—they fumigated it, breathed into its nostrils, and wrappin it in the Star Spangled Banner, histed it to its feet. It wuz rather shaky on its pins, but it breathed free, and wuz altogether a more promisin and presentable bein than it hed bin for years.

We were all rejoist, and yet we wuzn't so well pleased, after all. He wuz gittin stronger, but his appearance wuz a changin so that we didn't know him. There wuz a color cum to his cheeks, he lost his brootal look, he stept free, and he gave evidences uv life and strength that wuz wonderful.

"Thank the Lord," sed the Blairs, "he's strong enough to be ridden agin!"

"Please Heaven!" sed Vallandigham, "my troubles is o'er, for there's strength in Dimocrisy."

"Let's mount," sed they in korus, and forthwith Montgomery Blair crept up into its thighs, with the whole family on his shoulders, each one uv wich twisted his legs about him with a death grip. The new rejoovenated giant staggered under this, but didn't fall. Mayor Monroe and his Louisiana crowd vaulted onto his shoulders, the Woodses, and Hoffman and Vallandigham and Voohres and Brite, and a thousand more uv the same style, and each loaded with his recoord.

"For God's sake," cried Chase, Seward and Rosecrance, "for God's sake git off. He ain't strong enuff to stand all that. He can't carry the loads that nigh killed him—the diseases that yoosed him up—any better now than he could before. Git off—git off!"

"Git off?" sed a planter who hed got a sekoor hold, "uv wat use is Dimocrisy to me onless I kin carry these?" pintin to the niggers under his arm.

"Git off?" sed the Blairs, "ef Dimocrisy can't carry us into posishen, wat do we want uv it?" and they gripped it so close ez almost to strangle it.

"Git off?" sed the Woodses, "onless we kin ride it uv what use is Dimocrisy to us?"

And they all declined gitting off emphatically.

"Very well," sed Chase and his friends, in despair, "very well, we're done; but look out."

Skarcely wuz the words out uv their mouths when the poor giant gasped his knees knocked together, his pins gave out, and he toppled over with a fearful crash, pilin the load in one heterogenous mass.

At this point I awoke.

I hed no trouble to interpret the dream. It's troo that Dimocrisy can't carry the load that hez bin put onto it for yeers and yeers, and it's also true that we, the load, don't care a tinker's cuss about Dimocrisy onless it kin carry us. To make it strong enuff to stand alone, we hev to take off uv it all uv its distinctive feechers and replace em with ideas wich are new to us, and wat yoose is it to us? When Chase hed metamorphosed it so that it cood stand, it wuz ez near Abliahinism ez anything cood be, and when all that wuz taken off, it wuz precisely ez weak ez ever. Uv wat yoose is an Abliahinised Dimocrisy to an ex-slave holder, who wants his biggers again? Uv wat avail is a pure Dimocrisy to the gentleman who desires offis in which steeling is unlimited? Sich a Dimocrisy is Abliahinism—and we mite ez well go over to it bodily, ez to remodel our party on that idea. Ef we sink the old ishoos and the old ideas uv our party, we sink also us who advocated them ideas, and made them ishoos; and if we keep fightin it out on that line, wat is before us but defeat? Oh that I cood see a glimmer uv life! Oh that enuff uv our prominent leaders wood die to let us, the smaller ones, out from under their shadder! The fucher to me is dark and gloomy.

THE CATTLE DISEASE AND ITS CAUSE.

There is great difference of opinion among the scientific men now in attendance at the National Convention of Cattle Commissioners as to the nature of the pest that has carried off so many thousands of cattle during the past year. Two theories, the tick and sporule, have been ably discussed, each theory having its advocates and strong side. Dr. Morris, of New York, is of opinion that the disease is communicated by sporules in the mucus and excrement. The spore is simply the seed of a microscopic parasite growing upon grasses of warm climates, as the mold or parasite grows upon the grape leaf or other vegetable. It is eaten by the cattle in grazing, passes into the blood, bile, and other fluids, and out by the excretion in a microscopic form, and attaches itself again to other grasses. This theory was supported among others by Dr. Clendenin, of this city, who has given the subject, in its pathological and practical forms, very careful investigation.

It is not our purpose to enter into the discussion of this subject, but to state, as a curious fact, that during the prevalence of the disease in this vicinity not a few farmers and herdsmen believed that certain indications of a species of mildew on the grasses had something to do with the disease. The gardener of a gentleman residing on East Walnut Hills was strong in this faith. He is a foreigner, was raised among flocks, and had had a large experience with cattle. He pointed out patches of peculiar mold upon the walks and lawn, which he called "star dust," from its lustre and resemblance to silver powder. When rubbed under the foot it became black as powdered charcoal and left a decided stain upon any substance brought into contact with it. The gardener regarded it as the seeds of a plague dropped from the sky, and was fixed in the opinion that any animal eating it would die, that he was careful, whenever he came upon a patch of the mold, to rub it out. Whether this had anything to do with the sporule, the existence of which, in microscope form, Dr. Morris maintains, we do not pretend to know; but it shows that both scientific and unscientific minds are agreed that the disease is developed from some substance taken into the system through the stomach, and diffused with the fluids through the body.

THE MORNING GLORY.—Col. C. H. BUEHLER has received a large assortment of these famous base-burning Stoves, which on the score of economy, cleanliness, easy management, and general utility stand unrivalled and defy competition. The great demand for them last season taxed the capacity of the Manufacturers to meet the demand. They are much improved and will doubtless ere long take the place of all other stoves for parlor, office store and shop. Call and look at them, at the Wareroom on corner of Carlisle and Railroad street, opposite the depot.

Also, on hand a full assortment of the best varieties of COOKING STOVES, including the Spear, Noble Cook, Waverly, Oriental, Washing, Barley Sheaf, Prince Royal, Royal Cook, Excelsior, &c. &c., all WARRANTED to be good bakers. If not satisfactory, they can be returned and the money refunded. Also, a large assortment of Hollow Ware and Tin Ware, Doty's Washing Machine and Universal Wringer. Call and examine. tf

☞The little ailments, griefs and discomforts to which poor weak humanity is liable are among the hardest we have to bear. Loss of hair is one affliction to some people quite unbearable. Yet that loss elicits no consolation from our friends. Turn then to the greatest benediction of this golden age, and apply with earnestness and vigor that unrivalled preparation known as "Barrett's Vegetable Hair Restorative," so agreeable in its application, so wonderful in its results.—Pittsburg Chronicle. 1t

A CARD.

A Clergyman, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the Cure of Nervous Weakness, Early Decay, Diseases of the Urinary and Seminal Organs, and the whole train of disorders brought on by baneful and vicious habits. Great numbers have been cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the recipe for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it, free of charge. Address

TO PHYSICIANS.
NEW YORK, August 15th, 1867.

Allow me to call your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo. Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement by liquor obtained from Juniper Berries, containing very little sugar, a small proportion of spirit, and more palatable than any now in use. The active properties are by this mode extracted.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists generally, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exists. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,
With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist of 16 Years' Experience in Philadelphia, and now located at his Drug and Chemical Warehouse, 594 Broadway, New York.

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence, and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise.
WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN,
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, for weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of Nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Memory, Wakefulness, Horror of Disease, or Forebodings of Evil, in fact, Universal Lassitude, Prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

The Constitution, once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to Consumption or Insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU, in affections peculiar to Females, is unequaled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from habits of dissipation, imprudence in, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

USE HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU in all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists every where. Price—$1.25 per bottle, or six bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

M., the said Farm of the decedent, situated in Latimore township, Adams county, on the public road leading from [illegible] Mill to Wolford's Mill, adjoining lands of Charles Prosser, Daniel Stitzell, and others, containing about 25 Acres of land, all of which is in an excellent state of cultivation, except about [illegible] acre, which is in timber. The land has all been limed several times and produces well. Latimore creek runs through the Farm and this makes a reasonable proportion of good Meadow. Improved with a two-story Log House, weatherboarded, with a Kitchen, a [illegible] Frame Barn, with threshing floor, Wagon Shed, Carriage House and other outbuildings. There is a well of good water near the house with a pump, and a spring with a large Wash House.

Persons wishing to view the premises will be shown the same by George F. Myers residing on the property.

Possession will be given on the 1st of April 1869, when [illegible] the purchase money will be required to be paid, and the balance will be required to be paid in two equal annual payments thereafter without interest.

The Star and Sentinel.

Gettysburg, Friday, Dec. 18, 1868.

BLANK DEEDS.—We have just printed a new lot of Blank Deeds, on superior, heavy white paper, and are now prepared to fill all orders promptly.

APPOINTMENTS.—The Directors of the Poor have made the following appointments for the coming year:—Steward, Jonas Johns; Physician, Dr. J. W. C. O'Neal; Counsel, J. C. Neely, Esq., in place of Wm. McClean, Esq., resigned; Treasurer, Jacob Benner; Clerk, H. G. Wolf; Farmer, William Toot.

NEW HOTEL.—We have been shown a handsome photograph by Tipton and Myers of the proposed "Gettysburg Katalysine Hotel." It shows a front of 350 feet, four stories high, with a French roof, and Cupola in the centre. If completed according to the plan, it will be a handsome and imposing building.

BARN BURNT.—On Friday night, Dec. 4, a barn belonging to Mr. JAMES BRADY, in Buchanan Valley, was destroyed by fire, with all its contents, consisting of hay, straw, &c. The fire is supposed to have been caused, in some accidental way, by a party stealing chickens. The building was insured in the Mummasburg Company for $400.—Compiler.

COLD SNAP.—Winter has fairly set in at last. During the past week the mercury has indicated a steady determination to keep below freezing point, occasionally looking down closely to zero.—The streams and ponds are tightly frozen up, and the young folks say the skating is "splendid." We notice by our exchanges that the present cold snap is general. At the West it is felt with great severity. At Kansas city Friday and Saturday were the coldest days for several years, the thermometer reaching fifteen degrees below zero. Navigation on all the Western rivers is closed.

SALES.—Samuel Eyster has sold his farm, in Butler township, to Ezekiel Lau, of Reading township, 150 acres, for $7,500.

Geo. Fiscel has purchased the farm of Charles Price, in Cumberland township, 113 acres, for $3,560.

Moses Hartman has purchased the interest of Esther McKinney, deceased, in the McKinney property in Mountjoy township, being the undivided one-third of 112 acres, for $965. H. B. Cromer has purchased the interest of Andrew McKinney in the same, the undivided two-thirds, for $2,256.

☞On Tuesday evening, G. A. TOWNSEND, Esq., delivered his lecture on "The Pennsylvania Dutch," in Agricultural Hall, with a fine audience. The Lecture we presume, disappointed many, who from the theme announced, may have expected to be entertained with a ludicrous burlesque of the habits and customs of the Pennsylvania Germans. Instead of this, the Lecture was a scholarly and in the main discriminating discussion of the origin and peculiarities of the various sects found between the Blue Mountains and the Delaware—the Tunkards, Mennonites, Moravians, &c.,—with some fine descriptions of rural life and scenes as presented to the tourist in visiting the garden spots of the State lying east of the Susquehanna. Of course, the subject presented a fair field for humorous illustrations, and the Lecture was made to sparkle with them. The somewhat extravagant but humorous story of Phil Shute's troubles with U. States revenue detectives, intended to illustrate the capacity of the German for Lager beer drinking, brought down the house. Although Mr. Townsend's articulation and delivery are faulty, rendering it difficult at times to be understood, the lecture on the whole was a success, and one of the best we have had.

FIRE.—On Tuesday last, about noon, our town was startled by the cry of "Fire!" A dense volume of smoke rolling up from the western end of the town indicated the direction of the fire, which proved to be the Carpenter shop on the lot occupied by Mr. George Chritzman, on West Middle street. Being frame, with a good deal of combustible material, the building was soon enveloped in flames, and in less than half an hour was in ruins. The fire communicated to the Shed and Stable of Mr. William Z. Little, adjoining, and for a little while it looked as if all the neighboring stables would go. The only hope of checking the progress of the fire was by tearing down Mr. Little's stable, which, with the aid of axes, hooks, and ladders, was accomplished, and a sufficient space thus cleared between the burning shop and other stables to save them.

The Carpenter Shop was occupied by Mr. William Chritzman, who, we regret to say, loses about $600 in tools and materials, without any insurance. The Shop itself was insured in the Adams County Company for $100, and the Stable of Mr. Little in the same Company for a like amount. As Mr. Chritzman and his hands had gone to dinner, it is not known how the fire occured, but the supposition is that fire from the stove was in some way communicated to shavings on the floor.

GOV. BAKER.—Hon. CONRAD BAKER, just elected Governor of Indiana, furnishes another signal illustration of the working of our Republican Institutions, proving that the avenues to high official position are open to honest worth of every rank. Gov. Baker is doubtless well recollected by many of our citizens, having lived in Gettysburg several years before going West. He was born in Franklin county in 1817, and was left an ophan at an early age—his father dying before he had attained his second year, and his mother when he was sixteen. Desirous of acquiring a liberal education, he soon after entered Pennsylvania College, at this place, and after graduating studied law in the office of Thaddeus Stevens and Judge Smyser. After being admitted to the bar, he practised law in Gettysburg, for several years, marrying his first wife here. About 1840, he determined to try his fortunes in the great West—located at Evansville, Indiana, and, by close application to his profession, acquired a commanding position at the Bar. He was elected to the Indiana Legislature for a session or two and for several years served as Judge of the Probate Court. In due time his abilities and essential integrity became recognized throughout the State, and higher honors were placed at his command. At the breaking out of the Rebellion he tendered his services to the Government, was commissioned Colonel of the 1st Indiana Cavalry, which he had aided in raising, and served with distinction in the field, until 1863, when he was made Provost Marshal General of the State. In 1864 he was elected Lieutenant Governor, but Gov. Morton was compelled to go to Europe by reason of bad health, leaving Mr. Baker to discharge the Gubernatorial functions, which he did so successfully, that last year the Republicans of Indiana unanimously nominated him as their candidate for Governor. After a hard fought contest, he was elected over Mr. Henderson, probably the ablest and certainly the most popular Democrat in het State, notwithstanding enormous frauds in the counties along the Kentucky line. That he will make a successful Governor, his whole past history fully foreshadows. As a former townsman, we congratulate Gov. Baker upon his well-earned and well deserved triumphs.

A SURPRISE.—We were astonished the other day at the number of persons we met on the streets, carrying packages of Dry Goods, Queensware, &c., and upon inquiring, found they had all come from DUPHORN's, corner of the Square and Carlisle street. He seems to have created quite an excitement with the low prices at which he is now selling goods. Give him a call before you make your purchases. 3t

MENT.—The annual meeting of the Board of Managers of the Soldier's National Cemetery was held at Washington, on the 9th inst., D. Wills, Esq., of this place, presiding. Reports were made by Mr. Wills, President, and Hon. S. B. Russell, Treasurer, and by various committees, exhibiting the financial condition of the Association and the progress of the work. The Monument, which has been delayed by the breaking of one of the statues in Italy, will be completed early next Spring. The Monument will be of New England white granite, 65 feet high; the statues of Italian marble. The top statue represents the Goddess of Liberty, and is 16 feet 6 inches high. It was cut in Italy under the superintendence of Randolph Rogers, and is now on the ground at Gettysburg. The shaft of the monument is of white granite, and is already cut and ready to be shipped from the quarries at Westerly, Rhode Island. Two of the statues, "War" and "History," are finished and were shipped from Leghorn on the 20th of November. The other statues, "Peace," and "Plenty," are in the hands of the sculptor in Italy, and will be shipped early in the spring.—These will be placed around the four pedestals or corners of the monument.

It was determined to have the final consecration ceremonies on the 1st of July next, and committees were appointed to make the necessary arrangements, which will be on an extensive scale, and worthy of the occasion.

The Executive Committee were instructed to inquire into the expediency of erecting an observatory or tower in the cemetery grounds, and, if they deem it advisable, to procure and report to the Board plans and estimates of the cost of such observatory. This, by the way, is a capital idea, and we hope it will be adopted. An observatory on the rising ground in the rear of the cemetery lot, would give visitors a commanding view of the entire battle-field. The want of it has been frequently remarked, and we feel assured that the Board could do nothing which would give more general satisfaction.

The Committee charged with the duty of securing the assent of the States represented in the Board to a transfer of the Cemetery to the General Government, reported that all States which acted on the subject had responded favorably, and that the other States would doubtless concur in time to make the formal transfer next July, after the consecration.

Mr. Russell, Treasurer, reports the amount received during the year, including balance on hand at previous settlement, $14,623.50; amount paid out during the year on monument, lodge house, &c., $13,138.63, leaving a cash balance of $1,484.87, besides $22,500 invested in U. S. 5-20 Bonds. There has been paid on the contract for the monunment $35,000, leaving $12,500 to be paid on final completion of the work. This would leave a surplus of about $11,000 in the hands of the Board, to appropriate to the proposed observatory, or such other improvements as may be deemed best.

Mr. Wills was re-elected President, and Mr. Russell Treasurer, and the Board adjourned to meet in Gettysburg on the 30th of June next.

IN MEMORIAM.—Several weeks ago we published the death of BERNHART GILBERT, of Athens, Tenn., formerly of Gettysburg. Mr. Gilbert, while a resident of this county, filled various public offices and was widely known and esteemed. The following obituary from one of the Athens (Tenn.) papers will be read with interest by his numerous friends:

"The death of a man who has seen portions of six generations is an event of interest to all who have known him.—When that man has stood in the relation of father to a large family, whose children and grand children are numbered by scores and scattered through many distant States, his death is of deeper interest to the hundreds who are allied by marriage and friendship to those who mourn his loss. Mr. Bernhart Gilbert, whose death we announced last week, was such a man. At his birth, the soldiers of the revolution were in every village, and Washington was then President of the United States. Mr. Gilbert, before his death, dandled upon his knee the children who are to see the prime of life and grey hairs half a century hence. Mr. Gilbert was not only extensively connected and widely known, but his personal virtues and active piety made him an example to all who knew him, a "way-mark" to the kingdom of his Lord and Master. His friendship was cherished by Hon. Thaddeus Stevens who wrote one of his last letters to Father Gilbert; and many other prominent men of Pennsylvania have enjoyed the society of this plain, practical old man, who went in and out before us here with such modesty of demeanor.

His death was peaceful. When words failed, he indicated by signs that the way was bright before him. Faith bridged the river and lighted the road to the ineffable joys of Heaven.

Long may his children cherish that memory which honors them, and strive to imitate the virtues of this excellent old soldier of the Cross."

FARMER'S MEETING.—The officers of the "Adams County Agricultural Society" advertise in another column a call for a meeting of the Farmers and others interested in Agricultural matters, to be held in Agricultural Hall on Saturday the 26th instant, to exchange views on practical Agricultural matters. The subject assigned for the occasion is "Ploughing." We presume this is intended as the first of a series of similar meetings. It is a good idea, and if the matter be judiciously managed it will prove interesting and profitable. We hope to see the meeting on the 26th well attended by our Agriculturalists. It is a movement in their own interest, and it is for themselves to say whether it shall be a success or not.

CHRISTMAS.—All look to Christmas with anticipations of having a pleasant time. The Sabbath Schools of St James Lutheran Church in this place are preparing to have on Christmas evening, not only a good time for themselves, but also expect to give our community an opportunity of being entertained, by means of quite an interesting programme, including a "Christmas Idyl," "Monument" building, an exercise entitled "Feed My Lambs," Symbols, &c., interspersed with music by the Schools. The exercises promise to be full of life and spirit. Christmas comes but once a year; therefore enjoy the day as much as you possible can, and close its pleasures by attending the anniversary exercises of the St. James Sabbath Schools. To pay expenses an admittance fee of 15 cents will be charged.

ANOTHER.—Since writing the above we learn that the German Reformed Sabbath School intend to have their Anniversary Celebration also on Christmas evening. In addition to the usual exercises, on this occasion a Christmas Tree will be put up, bearing presents for the children of the school, which will be distribted at the close of the exercises. The occasion will be one of interest to the School and members of the congregation. Admitance free. It is to be regretted that both Schools have their celebrations on the same night, as many of our citizens would like to attend both.

LECTURE BY DR. McCRON.—It is probably known to our readers that the Masonic Fraternity are in the habit of observing the evening of St. John's day as a festive occasion and social re-union. As St. John's day this year falls on Sunday, the members of "Good Samaritan Lodge," of this place, will observe the following night, Monday, Dec. 28. A part of the programme will consist of a popular Lecture in Agricultural Hall, at 7 P. M., by Rev. Dr. McCRON, of Baltimore, to which the public are cordially invited—ADMITTANCE FREE. He is Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Maryland, and has accepted an invitation from "Good Samaritan Lodge" to be with them on the evening of the 28th. Dr. McCron is regarded as one of the most eloquent pulpit orators of the Monumental City. Let him have a full house.

ing anything in the house-keeping line, will do well to call at Col. C. H. BUEHLER's extensive Ware-room, near the Passenger depot, on Carlisle street, who has on hand a very large assortment of Stoves of the best manufacture, Cooking, Parlor, Office, and Chamber Stoves, for wood or Coal; also Hollow Ware, Tin Ware, Japan Ware, Britannia Ware, Bird Cages, and a general assortment of Kitchen utensils. Also Coal and Lumber of all kinds. tf

A GOOD IDEA.—WM. E. CULP has opened an Upholstering establishment on Washington street, near the "Eagle Hotel," where, in addition to Coach-trimming, he will cover and repair Mattrasses, Sofas, Lounges, Chairs, &c. Mr. CULP is a good workman, and this new branch of business is one much needed in this section. Housekeepers will do well to bear it in mind. It

ALL KINDS OF JOB WORK.—Having largely added to our facilities for Job Printing, we are now enabled with the aid of our Campbell Power Press, Gordon Jobber, and Hand Presses, to turn out promptly all kinds of Printing, from the smallest Card to the largest Poster, including Pamphlets, Speeches, Catalogues, Circulars, Programmes, &c. With our new Job Press.

SLEIGHING.—As our country friends are now favored with sleighing, they have a fine opportunity to visit the Store of FRANK D. DUPHORN—if not to buy—to see his stock of Winter Goods; no trouble to show them. Do not miss the chance.—Everybody goes. Don't forget the place—Northwest corner Centre Square. It

ANOTHER NOTICE.—There is considerable amount of money due me on the books of the late "Adams Sentinel"—the non-payment of which subjects me to great inconvenience, as I am mainly dependent upon this as a means of support for my family, and the liquidation of debts. I trust, therefore, that this will be the only notice required to induce those who owe me to pay their indebtness AT ONCE.

AYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

LEAVING THE FARM.

There is an undercurrent of history in the lives and efforts of thousands of young men who have left peaceful country homes, filled with an insatiate desire for city occupations, which, if known and fully expressed, would present so disagreeable a picture few would care to endure the painful experience.

Had we the opportunity to address every young country lad in this entire country, we would with all earnestness say: "Pause, young man, before you leave the threshold of the old farm-house to try your future in an unknown and glittering commercial life. Did you but know of the troubled future before you, your heart would lose its courage and your mind would give up its dearest wish."

Country friends meet us frequently and ask: "I want to get a place in the city for my brother (or son, or cousin, or friend); he is honest, smart, and wants to do something; he has got tired of staying at home—there is nothing going on, no money to be made, it is all hard work; he would be glad of any chance to get a start."

We have one reply: "As you value the honor, happiness, and good principles of your friend, never send him to the city.

"The avenues for employment are crowded in every direction, there is scarcely a chance for new hands. The wages are small, expenses are high, progress and advancement are slow, money is slowly accumulated, and city life is so completely selfish and heartless that it is perilous to trust fresh hearts in so mercenary associations.

"Think of it; it has been ascertained by statistics that, out of every hundred merchants in this city who start business within ten consecutive years, at least 97 fail, or are obliged to close, with partial or complete loss of their capital. And of those who have made fortunes, how many cases occur to us where they have lost them by speculation or bad investments. How many there are whose health is a constant burden, who are dogged by thieves, they stand in constant dread of robbery or assault, they are pestered with speculators enticing them into tempting schemes, or others playing upon them all kinds of charity doges, and devices innumerable to relieve them of their gains. How many, in their vanity, gratify every desire for pleasure and enjoyment or fashionable show, and are led into excess, dissipation, become spendthrifts, and at last find no place to cover their heads.

"It seems so plausible for confident young men to say that they know themselves better, and they can certainly conduct themselves with the same stoicism and composure of mind in success or defeat, with heroic efforts to overcome every temptation. But, alas! it is the history of human nature over and over again. None are immaculate; all do yield, sooner or later. We have seen the ups and downs of city life well enough to understand its dangers; and their is realy little encouragement for beginners from the country.

"A few—hardly one in ten thousand—is able to exclaim: 'I have realized the height of my ambition, and met the success of my plans.' The rest have disappeared beneath the surface of the commercial sea, and are remembered no more. They began poor and ignorant; after ten, twenty, thirty, or forty years' experience, and harder struggles than farm life ever knew, they gave up the unequal contest, with scarcely a straw to show an appreciable gain for all their years of toil."

The plain truth is that the first thoughts of the city to a young man are those of pleasantness; visions of ease, of comfort, of society, of enjoyment, of wealth, roll over his mind, and he is enchanted with elegant houses, business places, splendid churches, and the like. He sees the surface only at first; the naked reality comes afterward, and means hard work, small wages, long hours, petulance of employers, frequent dismissals for apparently no cause, failure of business houses and throwing out of employment, liability of loss of position in dull times, when help is abundant and work scarce. He cannot help meeting young men of all characters; his immediate associates are free and jolly fellows, they flatter him with their attention, they enjoy themselves, and invite him to see "what is going on." There is nothing harmless at first; everything appears fair and correct. But the boarding-house becomes too lonely, it is not like home; there are no kind, true friends to interest themselves in him, no kind words, no home comforts or freedom; it is hard to get into good society; the churches he attends are filled with worshipers who do not know or care for each other; he finds the entire chain of mercantile life is entirely cold and selfish. There is life and activity, to be sure; but you do not make the money—some one else does, through you. Is it at all strange that such a person walks the streets for pleasure and relief, drops into all places of amusement, reaches the theater, and from thence to the saloon, and from the drinking-palace to that gilded house which is next to hell itself? Thus it is that thousands, entering the city with the strength of good moral principles and perhaps religious convictions, find them entirely changed. The inner man becomes hardened—yes, wicked.

Young men, be contented with farm life, country occupations; give up this eager haste and longing look toward city business. Stick to home duties, learn a trade, work honestly. You can save more money by this means than as a clerk in a city store. Labor is not dishonorable. A clerkship is not easier than a trade or farm-labor.

Young men, as you value life, the pleasures of home, the happiness of agreeable associations among friends and neighbors; as you value health and contentment; as you value the strength of moral and religious principles; as you desire to become a man, dignified, honored, honorable, of influence, respected, and loved by all to whome you are known—never, NEVER leave the dear old country home for an untried future in city life.

Though you might live a thousand years, and still not gain one dollar beyond a comfortable livelihood, still your lot is far better than though you it had been cast in a great city. You may roam the world over, and you will never find a place where you will be so happy and contented as on the farm, at home. None possess fewer cares and more real and lasting enjoyment than those engaged in occupations associated with rural life.

Be not ashamed of the farm; love it, honor it. We honor you. God rewards you.

AGRICULTURAL JOKES.

The Ohio Farmer gets off the following: Prosperity is generally based upon knowledge and industry; the swine will always get most that nose most.

Farmers are like fowls, neither will get full crops without industry.

Because a man who attends a flock of sheep is a shepherd, makes it no reason that a man who keeps cows should be a coward.

We like to see a farmer increase the growth of useful plants and shrubs around his home, but do not like to see him use rails, poles, and boards to prop-a-gate with.

POMP—"Cuff, can you tell me the difference between an accident and a misfortune?" CUFF—"Give it up, Pomp. Can you?" POMP—"If you should fall into the ribber, dat would be an accident; if somebody should pull you out, that would be a misfortune."

RED JACKET AXE.

COLBURN'S PATENT,

Patented July, 9, 1867. Re-issued August 18, 1868.

Extracts from Letters and Reports of the working qualities of the Axe:

- I. Your Axe is bound to be THE AXE.
- II. It will cut 25 per cent. better.
- III. My brother lost one arm in the war, but with your Axe he can cut as well as any one else can.
- IV. If I could not get another, twenty-five ($25) dollars would not buy it.
- V. It will cut hoop-poles better than any other Axe.
- VI. I would not be without it for anything.
- VII. The only objection is it goes too far into the wood.
- VIII. Men who chop for a living universally approve of it, &c., &c., ad infinitum.

THE AMERICAN

BUTTON HOLE OVERSEAMING AND SEWING MACHINE CO.,

In directing attention to their CELEBRATED COMBINATION BUTTON HOLE & SEWING MACHINE, beg leave to refer to its wonderful popularity as conclusive proof of its great merit.

The increase in the demand for this valuable machine has been TEN FOLD during the last seven months of its first year before the public.

This grand and surprising success is unprecedented in the history of sewing-machines, and we feel fully warranted in claiming that

IT HAS NO EQUAL,

BEING ABSOLUTELY THE BEST

FAMILY MACHINE

IN THE WORLD,

And Intrinsically the Cheapest.

It is really two machines combined in one, (by a simple and beautiful mechanical arrangement,) making both the Shuttle or Lock-stitch, and the Overseaming and Button-hole stitch, with equal facility and perfection. It executes in the very best manner every variety of Sewing, such as, Hemming, Felling, Cording, Tucking, Stitching, Braiding and Quilting, Gathering and Sewing on, (done at the same time,) and in addition, Overseams, Embroiders on the edge, and makes beautiful Button and Eyelet Holes in all fabrics.

Every Machine is warranted by the Company, or its Agents, to give entire satisfaction.

Circulars with full particulars and samples of work done on this Machine, can be had on application at the Salesrooms of the Company,

S. W. Cor. Eleventh and Chestnut Streets, Philadelphia, Pa.

Instructions given on the Machine at the rooms of the Company gratuitously to all purchasers.

THE GREAT CHOLERA PREVENTATIVE.

I. X. 1866. L.

THE GREAT

Zingari Bitters.

THIS WONDERFUL REMEDY was discovered and introduced about twenty years ago by Dr. S. Cheopaus, an eminent Egyptian physician

He had long seen and felt the want of some remedy which would strike at the root of disease, and so prevent much of the suffering which the human family was then compelled to endure.

This great question was presented to his mind every day in vivid colors as he moved among the sick and dying, and observed the inefficiency of nearly all the remedies then in use. Thus he was led to think and experiment; and after ten years' study and labor, he presented to his fellow-men the wonderful Zingari Bitters. The effect of this preparation in the prevention and cure of disease was so marvellous and astonishing, that the most flattering marks of royal favor were bestowed upon him when discovered it. His name was placed upon the Roll of Nobles, and a gold medal with the following inscription—Dr. S. Cheopaus, the Public Benefactor—was presented to him by the Viceroy.

The preparation has been used in several epidemics of cholera, both as a preventive and curative measure, and with such great success, that it has been introduced into nearly all the general hospitals of the Old world.

The old saying that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, applies with marvellous force to cholera, and therefore any remedy that will protect us against this terrible disease should be freely and persistently used.

All pathologists now agree that the cholera poison acts on the system through the blood, and that any combination which acts on the excretory organs, and keeps them in working order, must prevent a sufficient accumulation of the poison to exert its terrible effects on the organism. This is true not only of cholera, but of nearly all other maladies, especially the different forms of fever.

The Zingari Bitters is just such a remedy as the above conditions require. It acts on the organs of excretion and secretion, keeping up a perfect balance between them. This Bitters is composed entirely of roots and herbs, so nicely concocted that every organ is acted upon and put in tone. Its taste is pleasant and its effects prompt and lasting.

Numerous cases of the following diseases have been cured by it: Cholera, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Scrofula, Typhoid and Typhus Fever, Fever, Ague, Nervous Debility, Anaemia, Female Irregularities, Dyspepsia, Flatulency, Colic, &c.

Price One Dollar per quart Bottle.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR THE RENOVATION OF THE HAIR.

The Great Desideratum of the Age.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts longer on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

HAIR DRESSING,

BEEF, IRON AND PURE BRANDY.

BY DR. HARTMAN,

Regular Graduate of the University of Pennsylvania

It will positively cure Consumption, Coughs and Colds, and all diseases of the Lungs or Bronchial Tubes.

It has been the means of RESTORING THOUSANDS to health who have been given up beyond the reach of medical assistance. It does more to relieve the Consumptive than anything ever known. Unequalled strengthener for delicate Ladies and Children.

EACH BOTTLE CONTAINS THE NUTRITIOUS PORTION OF TWO POUNDS OF CHOICE BEEF.

The Cure of Consumption was first effected by the use of RAW BEEF and BRANDY in Russia, afterwards in France, in which countries I have travelled for years.

I have used it with perfect success in my own family. In presenting this preparation to the public I feel confident that every afflicted one who reads this (even the most skeptical) may become convinced, by a single trial that it is truly a most valuable medicine.

Circulars and medicines sent to any address. Price $1 per bottle—six for $5.

Roth's Improvement for Opening, Closing and Latching Gates,

MAY be attached to any gate and operated from buggy, team or saddle, by one hand, in any desired direction from the gate—opened and closed from one point, at any distance from the gate. This improvement is simple and cheap, yet perfect and strong; will not be disarranged by the sagging of the gate, nor by the frost raising the posts; may be made at a country blacksmith's, and easily attached to a gate. The undersigned, having the Right for Adams county, will sell Township and Farm Rights of this improvement.

Also, ROTH & SHANE'S AMERICAN LEVER GATE—which will be found valuable and convenient to all who have gates to drive through—as they remain by their team, open, close and latch a gate, without the necessity of getting in the wet or mud.

THE CRAIG MICROSCOPE.

This celebrated patent instrument is simple, cheap, and a permanent availability. It is an optical wonder. It magnifies minute transparent objects 100 diameters or 10,000 times, rendering the animalcules in impure water, the globules in milk, blood, etc., the minute unseen claws, joints, etc. of insects, and definitely the shape of the pollen of flowers, visible. It shows, in diseased pork, the "trichina spiralis," (first discovered in this country with this microscope,) uric acid, urea, etc. definitely, and the eels in vinegar magnified to from one to four inches in length. Mailed for $2.75; or, with six mounted objects, comprising a bee's sting, a wasp's wing, a fly's foot, butterfly's wing dust, mouse's hair, and human hair, $1.00 additional; slides, specially prepared for this microscope each containing a microscopic picture, 50c. each. Other object $1.50 per dozen.

The Chinese Government having (through the Hon. Anson Burlingame) conceded to the Company the privilege of connecting the great seaports of the Empire by submarine electric telegraph cable, we propose commencing operations in China, and laying down a line of nine hundred miles at once, between the following ports, viz:

	Population.
Canton	1,000,000
Macoa	60,000
Hong-Kong	250,000
Swatow	200 000
Amoy	250,000
Foo-Chow	1,250,000
Wan Chu	300,000
Ningpo	400,000
Hang Chean	1,200,000
Shanghai	1,000,000
Total	5,910,000

These ports have a foreign commerce of $900,000,000, and an enormous domestic trade, beside which we have the immense internal commerce of the Empire, radiating from these points, through its canals and navigable rivers.

The cable being laid, this Company proposes erecting land lines, and establishing a speedy and trustworthy means of communication, which must command there, as everywhere else, the communications of the Government, of business, and of social life, especially in China. She has no postal system, and her only means now of communicating information is by couriers on land, and by steamers on water.

The Western World knows that China is a very large country, in the main densely peopled; but few yet realize that she contains more than a third of the human race. The latest returns made to her central authorities for taxing purposes by the local magistrates make her population Four Hundred and Fourteen Millions, and this is more likely to be under than over the actual aggregate. Nearly all of these, who are over ten years old, not only can but do read and write. Her civilization is peculiar, but her literature is as extensive as that of Europe. China is a land of teachers and traders; and the latter are exceedingly quick to avail themselves of every proffered facility for procuring early information. It is observed in California that the Chinese make great use of the telegraph, though it there transmits messages in English alone. To-day great numbers of fleet steamers are owned by Chinese merchants, and used by them exclusively for the transmission of early intelligence. If the telegraph we propose, connecting all the great seaports, were now in existence, it is believed that its business would pay the cost within the first two years of its successful operation, and would steadily increase thereafter.

No enterprise commends itself as in a greater degree remunerative to capitalists and to our whole people. It is of a vast national importance commercially, politically, and evangelically.

The stock of this Company has been unqualifiedly recommended to capitalists and business men, as a desirable investment by editorial articles in the New York Herald, Tribune, World, Times, Post, Express, Independent, and in the Philadelphia North American, Press, Ledger, Inquirer, Age, Bulletin and Telegraph.

Shares of this Company, to a limited number, may be obtained at $50 each, $10 payable down, $15 on the 1st of November, and $25 payable in monthly instalments of $2.50 each, commencing December 1, 1868, on application to

DREXEL & CO.,
34 SOUTH THIRD STREET, PHILADELPHIA.

Shares can be obtained in Gettysburg by application to J. E. BAIR, Cashier of the Gettysburg National Bank; in Oxford, to J. JANVIER, Cashier of National Bank; who are Bankers, authorized to receive subscriptions, and can give all necessary information on the subject. [Sept. 19, 1868.

New School Song Book.

WE would respectfully call the attention of Principals of Schools, Seminaries, and Teachers of Singing to our New School Song Book,

THE SONG CABINET,

BY C. G. ALLEN.

This Book contains:—

First, A very carefully prepared series of Primary Song Lessons.

Secondly, A large number of new and beautiful School songs

Thirdly, A short Cantata—The School Festival—designed expressly for use at School Receptions, Concerts, and Exhibitions

The Publishers, in presenting this work to Principals and Teachers, would call special attention to its superior merits as a School Song Book. The author has been very careful in the selection of his music which is almost entirely new and in adapting to it appropriate words with unobjectionable sentiments, which will commend its adoption in all our Schools and Seminaries.

The Song Cabinet has been adopted by the Board of Education, as the text-book for the Public Schools in the city of New York.

Price, sixty cents each. To Schools, &c., six dollars per dozen.

J. H. SHIREMAN'S

REAPERS & MOWERS.

HAVING been agent for this machine last season, I also offer it to the farmer this season. It is well known, having taken the premium at the Bendersville Fair, also at the Gettysburg Mowing Match over seven others which were considered splendid machines, and likewise at the Dillsburg Mowing Match. Having concluded not to offer any machine that will not give entire satisfaction, I have refused agencies of several other machines, and now offer this one as

THE GREAT MACHINE OF THE SEASON.

Having tried one myself, I know exactly what it will do. I could refer you to scores of farmers who have purchased machines of me, who are highly pleased and say this is the only machine they would use.

Extras always on hand, and repairing done here at my place. This is a great consideration—the machine can be repaired at home immediately, and with much less cost.

Another great saving is the BINDER which is attached to this celebrated Reaper and Mower. It has been thoroughly tried, and given entire satisfaction—requiring no harvest-hand except a driver. This binder can also be attached to the Reapers which have been sold; but cannot be attached to any other machine except Shireman's.

I will here refer you to a few farmers, in different localities, who have bought and used these machines

Michael Fiscel,	Stephen Gettier,
Moses Hartman,	Mr. Sterner,
Joseph Wierman,	Mr. Linn,
Ulrich Jacobs,	J. R. Hershey
Jacob Hartman,	B. B. Woodburn.
Jacob Laman,

with others, too numerous to mention

This machine has a self-rake, side delivery, and is warranted to do its work as above recommended.

Also on hand, SHIREMAN'S SELF-DISCHARGING HORSE RAKE, a first-rate article, which we will sell at the lowest possible price. Warranted to give satisfaction. Also the COLUMBIA RAKE always on hand.

Machines can be seen at my house, three miles south of Gettysburg, or at Mr. Conrad Snyder's Battlefield Hotel.
